

Our Purpose

Hello everyone! God has really laid on my heart how vital it truly is to understand the meaning of “His purpose” and the work he does through US. Our life has nothing to do with us and our identity should not be in ourselves, but should rather be renewed through the one and only savior to ever touch this Earth. This world is full of beautiful humans and beautiful things that we tend to look over such as the ocean, sunset, sunrise and even clouds. This world is miraculous and each person is so special and part of a deeper meaning than we could ever begin to understand. Understanding everything and how it works is not our job, believing and trusting God is. Allowing him to take all control and saying, “okay God, you win” is what powers us through Christ and is what gives us meaning behind life. Life is a gift that we often take for granted. Being able to breathe and wake up everyday is a blessing that I cannot begin to express. I am grateful to be alive this day and everyday and I pray that you are too!

“But you are chosen people, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, God’s special possession, that you may declare the praises of him who called you out of darkness into his wonderful light.”

1 Peter 2:9

Love, Olivia Wall